

1. The first group of respondents (Group 1) consisted of 100 individuals who were randomly selected from the general population of the United States. This group was used to determine the overall prevalence of the disease in the population.

2. The second group of respondents (Group 2) consisted of 100 individuals who were randomly selected from the general population of the United States. This group was used to determine the overall prevalence of the disease in the population.

3. The third group of respondents (Group 3) consisted of 100 individuals who were randomly selected from the general population of the United States. This group was used to determine the overall prevalence of the disease in the population.

4. The fourth group of respondents (Group 4) consisted of 100 individuals who were randomly selected from the general population of the United States. This group was used to determine the overall prevalence of the disease in the population.

5. The fifth group of respondents (Group 5) consisted of 100 individuals who were randomly selected from the general population of the United States. This group was used to determine the overall prevalence of the disease in the population.

6. The sixth group of respondents (Group 6) consisted of 100 individuals who were randomly selected from the general population of the United States. This group was used to determine the overall prevalence of the disease in the population.

7. The seventh group of respondents (Group 7) consisted of 100 individuals who were randomly selected from the general population of the United States. This group was used to determine the overall prevalence of the disease in the population.

8. The eighth group of respondents (Group 8) consisted of 100 individuals who were randomly selected from the general population of the United States. This group was used to determine the overall prevalence of the disease in the population.

9. The ninth group of respondents (Group 9) consisted of 100 individuals who were randomly selected from the general population of the United States. This group was used to determine the overall prevalence of the disease in the population.

10. The tenth group of respondents (Group 10) consisted of 100 individuals who were randomly selected from the general population of the United States. This group was used to determine the overall prevalence of the disease in the population.

TUYEN T NGUYEN

2832

INTERFERENCE SEARCHED
Class	Subclass	Date	Examiner
Same as above		3/6/05	TTN

[illegible]